CURATE YOUR OWN MEMBERSHIP: A NEW APPROACH TO MUSEUM MEMBERSHIP, ONLY AT THE WHITNEY

NEW YORK, September 10, 2010 – Starting this week the Whitney Museum of American Art is offering a unique, personalized way to become a member of the Museum with its innovative Curate Your Own Membership program. The Museum is inviting new members to custom design their membership, choosing from five series with exclusive benefits, only available at the Whitney.

"To our knowledge, the Whitney is the first museum to offer its members a chance to personalize their way of belonging to the institution," says Kristen Shepherd Denner, the Whitney's Director of Membership & Annual Fund. "Museum memberships are generally centered on demographics—seniors, students, couples, and so on. By tapping into each individual's core values and allowing them to customize their benefits, we hope to deliver a bespoke membership that is meaningful to them personally and responds directly to their interests and needs. Our goal is to give members a richer, more rewarding experience at the Whitney and communicate with them in a more relevant way. We want their relationship with us to grow—and by extension, their support of the arts in their community."

The Whitney's Membership department created the Curate Your Own Membership program by learning about members and visitors in focus groups and surveys. "We found," says Denner, "that members fell into clusters that represent different ways to experience art and museums. Some members want more social events and to meet like-minded people at our fantastic openings; others wanted us to develop benefits that responded to their desire to have individual engagement with the art, or to learn more about the curatorial process. We developed our five benefit series to reach these clusters and fulfill needs not typically met by museum memberships."

In addition to enjoying Core Benefits—unlimited free admission, special discounts, and exhibition previews—Curate Your Own members can select from the following series: Social, Insider, Learning, Family, and Philanthropy. One series is included with an $85 Individual or $125 Dual membership. Additional series can be purchased for $40.

About the Whitney

The Whitney Museum of American Art is the leading advocate of 20th- and 21st-century American art. Founded in 1930, the Museum is regarded as the preeminent collection of American art and includes major works and materials from the estate of Edward Hopper, the largest public collection of works by Alexander Calder, as well as significant works by Jasper Johns, Donald Judd, Agnes Martin, Bruce Nauman, Georgia O'Keeffe, Claes Oldenburg and Coosje van Bruggen, Kiki Smith, and Andy Warhol, among other artists. With its history of exhibiting the most promising and influential American artists and provoking intense critical and public debate, the Whitney's signature show, the Biennial, has become the most important survey of the state of contemporary art in America today. First housed on West 8th Street, the Whitney relocated in 1954 to West 54th Street and in 1966 inaugurated its present home at 945 Madison Avenue, designed by Marcel Breuer. The Whitney is currently moving ahead with plans to build a second facility, designed by Renzo Piano, located in downtown New York at the entrance to the High Line in the Meatpacking District.
